Gallery of Achievement 2014
The Gallery of Achievement

The Camberwell Grammar School Gallery of Achievement was established to acknowledge and celebrate the success of generations of Old Camberwell Grammarians.

It is an ongoing, evolving project, which aims to inspire current and future students to pursue excellence in a wide range of careers, community service and sport.

A detailed biography of each Old Boy will be included in a Gallery of Achievement Perpetual File, to be held in the Camberwell Grammar School Development Office.

Note: The year in brackets following the inductees’ names indicates the year they completed, or would have completed, Year 12 at Camberwell Grammar School.
Mr Thomas Heath ALLAN
(2005)

Tom Allan began playing hockey at the age of five. He played in the CGS First Hockey team from when he entered Year 7 until he captained the team in Year 12. He represented Victoria each year in his age group up to and including Under 21. This success led him to be included in the Victorian Institute of Sport program for four years.

While playing Outdoor Hockey he was introduced to the new sport of Indoor Hockey and he was attracted by the pace, high skill level and tactics required. From 2004 to 2008 he represented Victoria in his new sport and in 2008 was selected in the Australian squad.

In 2009 Tom played for Australia in the Indoor Tri-Nations Tournament in England and Scotland and was the leading goal scorer for Australia. He stayed on in Scotland after this tournament, gaining international experience in the prestigious Euro Hockey Indoor Club Championships.

In 2010 Tom was again selected in the Australian team and represented Australia against Russia, Czech Republic and Poland.

Mr James Kenneth (Ken) ATOCK (1939)

James Kenneth (Ken) Atock, VX-5403 of the 2/7th. Infantry Battalion, 6th. Division AIF was awarded with ‘Mentioned-in-Despatches’ approved by King George VI in recognition of his gallant and distinguished service in the field during the Second World War.

Ken was the first CGS student to enlist for service in WWII aged only 18 years. He registered on the first day the newly formed 2nd AIF was established at Puckapunyal. Ken’s academic ability was quickly recognised by the Army and he was assigned to the intelligence section of the 2/7th Battalion. He performed intelligence activities and training in Egypt and Palestine and then went on to fight in active service in Libya, mainland Greece and Crete.

Ken was taken as a prisoner-of-war during the chaotic evacuation of the allied forces from Crete. During his incarceration in the POW camp, he secretly compiled intelligence information on the enemy. His notes recorded the military tactics, arms used, numbers of aircraft and troop movements in minute detail—everything of military value about the enemies’ invasion of Crete. Ken knew it was important to get this information to the AIF high command in Alexandria. He attempted to escape from the POW camp but was killed by machine gun fire on the fence wire by prison guards.

At CGS in Form V in 1936, aged 15, Ken designed, built and launched an experimental rocket at Fisherman’s Bend for the purpose of transporting mail. Ken’s achievements in rocketry were reported around Australia and recorded in the Crome collection of the National Library of Australia as the “Rarest of all Australian Rocket Firings”. The Australian War Memorial in Canberra has preserved Ken’s rockets as important historical and war related artefacts. The “Kenneth Atock Memorial Scholarship” was established in 1976, by bequest, to support CGS students’ academic performance in scientific education with the emphasis on space and rocketry.

Mr John O BRENNAN

John Brennan studied English, History and Philosophy at Melbourne University then added a Bachelor of Education. John taught part time throughout his undergraduate years, but began teaching full time at Trinity Grammar, intending to help out for a term but enjoying it so much that he stayed eleven years. Experience in some tough UK schools, further qualifications from the University of London, posts in other Australian colleges, and part time lecturing at Melbourne and at Monash followed. In 1987 he became Principal of Eltham College. During his thirteen years there he initiated CBD-based special studies, now widely emulated. Overnewton Anglican College was his next school, after which he oversaw the establishment of the City Cite for Ballarat Grammar.

Following an invitation from DEECD, John moved into school reviews and project management. As portfolio leader for a major international consultancy he oversaw projects for 300+ schools in Victoria, with equivalent numbers in the other states during the exciting if hectic years of ‘Building the Education Revolution’, the Australian government’s successful response to the GFC.

A surprising last hurrah as a school Head was to help put Worawa Aboriginal College on a strong footing as a fully boarding school for Aboriginal girls.

John has chaired several national and state professional associations, chiefly in the areas of English, innovative curriculum, sports for co-educational schools and school leadership. He has served on a number of consultant committees for government and he has written and edited extensively. Now retired, John continues to consult—chiefly for Independent and Catholic schools.

Brigadier Phillip Keith H
BRIDIE AM
(1976)

Phillip entered the Royal Military College, Duntroon, on scholarship in 1977, completing a Science degree. He graduated in 1981 into the Royal Australian Armoured Corps.

Phillip served as a troop leader in both the 2nd Cavalry Regiment and 1st Armoured Regiment before being promoted to Captain. He was a Tank Squadron Second-in-Command, Regimental Technical Adjutant and Regimental Liaison Officer at 1st Armoured Regiment before transferring to the Army Reserve in 1987 whereupon he remained at the Regiment as a Squadron Second-in-Command.

On promotion to Major in 1990, Phillip served as an Officer Commanding in 4th/19th Prince of Wales’s Light Horse. This was followed by time at 3rd Reserve Command and Staff College both as a student on the Intermediate Staff Course, for which he was awarded a Blamey Award, and as a tactics instructor on Junior and Intermediate Staff Courses. He then was posted to Headquarters 4th Brigade. On relocating to Sydney for work in early 1996 he was posted to Headquarters 5th Brigade.

On promotion to Lieutenant-Colonel in 1998, Phillip had the honour of Commanding 1st/15th Royal New South Wales Lancers, a Reserve reconnaissance regiment, for three years. After two years at Land Headquarters as the Projects Staff Officer in Training Branch, he moved to Army Personnel Agency – Sydney (APA-S) as Staff Officer Grade One Officer Career Management.

In 2004, Phillip was promoted to Colonel and served as Colonel Projects Land Headquarters before taking up the posting of Director APA-S in 2005. In 2006 he participated in the Senior Officer Development Program, travelling to England and Israel to study complex military operations.

In 2007 Phillip was promoted to Brigadier and posted to Headquarters Training Command – Army as Brigadier Projects. There followed the personally most rewarding posting of his career to date, being command of the 8th Brigade for three years from 2009 to 2011. The Brigade consists of seven Army Reserve units and operates in the northern half of NSW from northern and north – western Sydney to the NSW–Queensland border. Whilst there were many highlights, he is most proud of the operational focus of the Brigade which culminated in the operational generation of Timor Leste Task Group 3.

For his service as Commander 8th Brigade, Phillip was made a Member of the Order of Australia in the Australia Day 2012 Honours List.

Mr Jon A CHARLTON
(1975)

Jon has a rich history of working with young people in schools, on the street and in church.

Early in his career as a teacher, he worked at Elwood College as Student Welfare Coordinator. Following that, he fulfilled the roles of Chaplain, Counsellor and Daily Organiser at Kilvington Girls’ Grammar. In late 1999, Jon was appointed Head of Middle School at Kingswood College. While at the College, he led the development of an experiential City Campus for Year 9 students.

From 2003–2007, Jon held the role of Deputy Head (Pastoral Care) at St Michael’s Grammar School in St Kilda. During this time, his expertise in pastoral care had a deep impact, as did his talent for school operations.

In 2008, Jon returned to Kilvington Grammar as Principal where he was instrumental in its successful transition to a co-ed school after a 90 year history as a girls’ school.

Jon has trained and practised as a Baptist pastor working with young people in the Blackburn and St Kilda areas.

In 1995, through the St Kilda Baptist community, he was responsible for establishing Machaseh House, which provided 16–18 year old students who were unable to live at home a safe and secure environment so that they could complete their secondary education and improve their opportunities in life. Jon served on the Machaseh House Board for 18 years, six as Chair.

Jon has completed two degrees—a Science degree from Monash University and a Theological degree from Melbourne University. Jon’s passion is to see all young people achieve their very best, and to become responsible and involved global citizens by helping others.

Mr Harry Guy DARLING
(1943)

Guy Darling enlisted in the Royal Australian Navy in May 1943. After basic training he joined the mine sweeper HMAS Ballarat as Petty Officer Radar Mechanic. After being discharged from the Navy in 1947, Guy studied mechanical engineering at the University of Melbourne, graduating in 1950. He joined the RAAF as a civilian in the Aeronautical Research and Development Unit, becoming the scientist responsible for all aircraft research and development.

During a secondment to Paris in 1961 as part of the Mirage Selection Team, Guy’s interest in viticulture was sparked, and he began to combine his scientific training with his passion for wine. In 1970 he planted the first commercial acreage grapes in the Upper King Valley, and he was soon followed by many surrounding landowners who recognised the potential of the valley as a grape growing region.

In 1983 he became a founding member of the King Valley Grape Growers’ Association (now the King Valley Vignerons), writing its constitution and serving as President for many years. He worked tirelessly to promote the valley and to promote the welfare of the grape growers and winemakers of the valley. This commitment extended beyond the valley when he joined the board of the Murray Valley Winegrowers in 1998.

He was instrumental in helping to create the Wine Grape Growers Council of Australia (now Wine Grape Growers Australia), a body set up to represent growers at a national as well as regional level. He served as chairman of this Council.

Perhaps his most enduring legacy stems from his foundation work on the Geographical Indications Committee established in 1993 as a statutory body to enable Australia to determine its wine grape-growing regions as required by the European Commission–Australia Wine Agreement.

Mr Tim Theodore SCHENKEN (1960)

Tim Schenken started his racing career in Melbourne in an Austin A30 at Templestowe Hill Climb and quickly progressed to a Lotus 18, winning a number of local titles. Driving for a friend, he also won the 1964 Australian Hill Climb Championship. Tim decided to pursue a professional career and travelled to the UK in 1965. In a short time he turned “professional” and won a number of British Championships, including those for Formula Ford and Formula 3. This led to being noticed by Jack Brabham—and a drive.

In 1970 he competed in the first of 35 Grands Prix for Frank Williams. Later, with Brabhams, he scored his best Formula One placing in Austria, where he finished third. He is one of only four Australians to have scored points in the FIA Formula One World Championship. Other drives included races with Ferrari, Ford, Porsche and Jaguar factories. The sports car drives led to two victories in the Nurburgring 1000km race.

In 1976, he founded Tiga Racing Cars with a colleague (Howden Ganley) and built over 400 racing cars before the company was sold in 1984. During this period, he also became a team owner and manager, running cars in Formula 2 and Formula 3. Tim also had a short spell in the US running an IMSA Sports Car Team before returning to Australia to take up a position with the Confederation of Australian Motor Sport Ltd. (CAMS) in 1984.

Tim is currently the Director of Racing Operations with CAMS and the Chairman of the Organising Committee and Clerk of the Course for the Australian Grand Prix. He is the Race Director for the International V8 Supercars Championship. Tim maintains close contacts with international motor sport bodies, oversees CAMS’ relationship with the FIA, and is a long-standing member of the FIA Touring Car Commission. Tony Stimson studied History at the University of Adelaide and Flinders University.

In 1990 he founded, with two others, Eynesbury College, an independent Years 11 and 12 college in Adelaide. The absence of younger students meant that Eynesbury could operate informally compared with other schools. Teachers and students worked on a first name basis and students had some freedom of movement in and out of the school. There were no sirens or uniforms. All students were heading towards university.

Eynesbury quickly established a reputation as a leading academic college. Two international English Language Centres and two Institutes of Business and Technology followed, all with a focus on international education and highly successful examples of partnerships between privately owned tertiary institutions and South Australia's universities.

Tony stepped down as school Principal in 2007. He later consulted for independent schools and founded, with his wife, Community Action for People with Disabilities in Africa, a small development organisation building capacity in local disability providers in Moshi, Tanzania.

Mr Wayne Trevor
THORNTON
(1976)

Wayne Thornton began playing hockey with the Camberwell Hockey Club at the age of five, following in the footsteps of his father Keith, who represented Australia in 1948.

Wayne was selected for, and captained Victoria at every age group – Under 12, Under 14, Under 16 and Under 21. At the age of 17, in 1977, he was selected for the Victorian Hockey Team. In 1980 he was selected for Australia, and in 1984 he toured Europe with the Australian Indoor Hockey Team.

Wayne and his father Keith were the first father and son to represent Australia in hockey.

After retiring from national and local competition in the mid 80’s due to business commitments, Wayne relocated to Hong Kong with the Amcor group. He immediately became involved with the local hockey community, which led to him being appointed as coach of the Hong Kong National Squad.

Mr Richard Graham THORP
(1961)

Richard graduated in architecture from The University of Melbourne in 1967. He then commenced full time work with Daryl Jackson Architects with whom he had worked during his undergraduate years.

He headed overseas in 1968 spending several years travelling and working in Europe, before moving to the USA where he joined Mitchell/Giurgola Architects in Philadelphia. 1976 and 1977 were spent working in Rome after which Richard returned to Mitchell/Giurgola in their New York Office. It was from here that the Partnership of Mitchell/Giurgola & Thorp was formed to enter the International Architectural Competition for the Australian New Parliament House in 1979.

Richard was the nominated architect for the new firm who were announced as the winner of the Competition on July 4, 1980. At the time, this was the largest ever architectural commission in Australia, and Richard moved to Canberra to establish an office to head up the massive $1.1 billion undertaking as Project Architect. He was joined by Senior Partner Romaldo Giurgola and several of the New York team, in an enterprise that lasted for eight years and saw the office grow to 160 staff. Following completion of the New Parliament House on time for Australia’s Bicentennial in May 1988, Richard moved to Sydney to open a second office for the firm. The following 14 years saw Mitchell/Giurgola & Thorp (MGT) emerge as one of the most highly awarded architectural firms in the Australia with major commissions across the nation as well as overseas.

After more than 40 years focussed on the design and construction of major public buildings, Richard retired from active practice in 2009, and is currently a Consultant to his firm. He has been President of the Architects Registration Board of NSW since 2004 and is a Fellow of the Royal Australian Institute of Architects; he has been an Associate of the American Institute of Architects and a Member of the Royal Institute of British Architects for many years. He was appointed a Member of the NSW Planning Assessment Commission in 2008.

Christopher Timpson was awarded the Medal of the Order of Australia for service to sport and to children with disabilities, particularly through the ACT Junior Talent Squad for Athletes with Disabilities.

In 1967 Christopher commenced work with the YMCA in Canberra, and became involved with children with disabilities. He has combined his working life with volunteer work with young athletes, and over the years has helped hundreds of young people in their chosen sports.

In 1975 Christopher managed the Australian Gymnastics Team at the Commonwealth Games in New Zealand, and in 1978 he managed the team at the World Championships in France. Christopher continues to work with disabled athletes in Track and Field, including a Para Olympian who represented Australia in the Olympic Games in Athens in 2004.

Inducted 2004
Reverend Thomas Henry TIMPSON AO (1931)

Thomas Timpson was appointed an Officer of the Order of Australia in 1978 for his service to education.

Before his appointment as Headmaster at Camberwell Grammar School in 1955, Tom was a Housemaster and teacher at Canberra Grammar School, served in World War II as a RAAF Chaplain – which included 18 months in Papua New Guinea, and to broaden his experience, spent two years teaching in England at Uppingham School.

Tom’s time as Headmaster was a time of consolidation, foresight and development, all of which are well documented in the school’s history – ‘By our deeds’.

In a Grammarian tribute to Tom Timpson in his final year, it was said that his immense capacity for kindness, understanding and love of his fellow men, had done more to shape the growth of the school than anything else.

After Camberwell Grammar, Tom became Secretary to the Victorian Universities and Schools Examinations Board, a position he held for over 10 years. He followed this position with the Registrar’s role at the Australian College of Education for seven years, before retiring in 1981.

Lindsay Urwin travelled to the UK in 1976 to ‘see the world’ and stayed. He trained for the ministry at Cuddesdon, a theological college just outside Oxford and was ordained in 1980, working for three years in inner city south London, just a mile from Camberwell Green after which our own Camberwell was named.

After a further five years as a parish priest in the same district he was appointed Diocesan Missioner in the Chichester diocese with a roving brief to encourage evangelism and spiritual renewal in Sussex. It was a preaching ministry that took him to various parts of the world to preach and teach including several trips to Australia, and this continues to be a feature of his ministry.

In 1993 he was appointed Area Bishop of Horsham in the same diocese. At 37 years of age he was one of the youngest bishops in the Anglican Communion and the youngest to be ordained in England for over 60 years. He remained the youngest bishop for a further ten years.

In 2009 he resigned as Bishop of Horsham to become the spiritual leader at the Shrine of Our Lady of Walsingham, a place of pilgrimage originally founded in the eleventh century, and to which thousands of people journey each year.

He has a particular interest in ministry among young people, and in education. For ten years he chaired the Chichester Diocesan Board of Education responsible for over 150 schools, and was the Archbishop of Canterbury’s Bishop for School Chaplains. He is the Southern Provost of the Woodard Corporation, a family of Anglican independent and state schools in the UK.

He is a professed Brother in the dispersed religious community the Oratory of the Good Shepherd.

His masters degree is from Heythrop, the Jesuit College in London, and in 2011 he received an Honorary Doctorate of Divinity from Nashotah House Seminary, Wisconsin, USA.

Mr Michael Spencer URWIN
(1971)

Michael Urwin was appointed as Headmaster of Brighton Grammar School in 1996.

From the age of 12 or 13 Michael knew he wanted to be a teacher. After graduating from Camberwell Grammar School in 1971 he attended the University of Melbourne and successfully completed an Honours Arts Degree, majoring in Chinese.

After university Michael returned to Camberwell Grammar School to teach Chinese and Mathematics—Camberwell was one of few schools offering Chinese at this time. In 1982 Michael spent 12 months living in Nanjing, China, when he was awarded one of the first Victorian Government International Teaching Fellowships to China.

In 1991 he was appointed Deputy Headmaster of Brisbane Grammar School. After just four years he returned to Melbourne in the role of seventh Headmaster of Brighton Grammar School, a role he successfully filled for 18 years.

Beyond the school gates Michael has made a significant contribution to the education sector, sitting on a number of Drug Education Committees at both State and National level. He served as a member of the University of Melbourne Bachelor of Arts Advisory Board; a Member of the Committee of Management of the Australian Anglican Schools’ Network (2002–2005), Chair of the Associated Public Schools Heads’ Association (2004–2006), Chair of the Victorian Branch of the Association of Heads of Independent Schools of Australia (2005–2007) and a member of the AHISA Executive Committee (2005–2011). He was on the national AHISA Standing Committee Board from 2005–2007 and again in 2009. Michael was also a Trustee of the Independent Boys’ School Coalition from 2007 until July 2013. He is a Fellow of the Australian College of Educators and a Fellow of the Australian Institute of Management.

Professor David Vaux is Deputy Director of the Walter and Eliza Hall Institute (WEHI). He has a medical degree and a PhD from the University of Melbourne. He was a Fellow in Pathology at Stanford School of Medicine, USA, and was elected Fellow of the Australian Academy of Science in 2003. In the middle of his medical degree, he spent a year at WEHI in Sir Gus Nossal’s laboratory studying immunology. Following an intern year at the Royal Melbourne Hospital, he returned to WEHI to do a PhD in molecular biology.

He then continued his research at Stanford University, returning to WEHI in 1993. For his research on the molecular mechanisms of cell death he received the Victoria Prize in 2003. The Victoria Prize is awarded annually to an individual whose scientific discovery has significantly advanced knowledge of benefit to the community.

David is a Fellow of the Australian Academy of Science, and received its highest award in the biological sciences, the Burnet Medal, in 2010. This biennial prize recognises scientific research of the highest standing in the biological sciences. David is recognised internationally as a leading researcher in bio-medical science.
